Are you concerned about your child's development?

Contact the Lincoln Early Childhood Center and ask for the Early Intervention Program @ 208-232-2994

No two kids progress the same way, that's why it's hard to tell when you should be concerned about differences in their development. Most children can at . . .

- 6 months: vocalizing, pulling self up, drinking from cup
- 1 year: take first steps, point or wave, and say several words
- 1 ½ Years: pointing & naming pictures in books, referring to self by name
- 2 years: run and use two to three word sentences
- 2 ½ years: separating from parents w/o crying, answering simple questions
- 3 years: drawing a person, using toilet with help, 75% of speech is understood by an unfamiliar listener

There are many more items to each list, so if you have concerns, please contact us.

Most differences are nothing to worry about, but sometimes it can signal a need for Early Intervention Services. Contact the Lincoln Early Childhood Center to schedule a screening. We have five Community Screenings each year (August, October, November, January, and February).

Our screenings involve both the parent and child. We will ask you about what your child is doing and learning at various stages of development. You'll answer questions about what your child can and cannot do. We will screen your child and look at their developmental progress in areas of communication, gross motor, fine motor, social/emotional skills, cognitive skills, and adaptive skills.

After we've completed the screening, we will share our results with you that might include a request for further testing to determine if there are any significant delays that need to be addressed.
